Figures in Education

The National Education Association and the United States Office of Education have recently compiled a very comprehensive table of figures concerned with education in the 48 States. To us, these figures are interesting in that they show how the states compare with each other in many important financial phases of educational matters.

To be very specific in some of these matters the table shows that Main is 39th from the top in its current educational expenditures per capital, with $26 as compared to the national average of $33. Rated on current expenditures per pupil, compared to New York's $324 and Mississippi's $85.

In expenditures per class room, including teacher's salaries, instructional equipment and maintenance Maine ranks 41st. The Mational average is $4,391 as compared to Maine's $2,662.

In average salaries of classroom teachers, Maine is number 42 from the top. It's $2645 is will below California's $4,500 and well above Kentucky's $1,847. The National Education Association recommends a minimum salary of $3,600 for classroom teachers.

Maine youth averages 10.2 completed school years. In Utah, number one, it is 12.0 years and in South Carolina only 7.6.

In income per capita Maine ranks 31. In income per child of school age our state is number 30. Its relative financial effort made to support public schools places Maine in the number 33 spot. New Mexico leads the nation here and Rhode Island is last.

What do the figures indicate? That there is a great difference of educational opportunity throughout our country for school children. The solution to this problem would seem to lie in Federal assistance to those states that are financially unable to provide a sound educational program on their own.

Every child in this country should have the right to an education. Only if our children become intelligent citizens can America hope to remain free and a leader among free nations.

Once when we were visiting Vermont on the steep, beautiful mountain sides, where all the soil is so rich that you eat it for medicine, and where the animals grow three times larger than thoses in Texas, a funny baby piwas born.

Now the pigs of Vermont are as Large as a car when full grown and are born as big as a wheel-barrel. This baby was funny because he looked about like the pigs born in Texas; he was only a foot or so long and about two feet high. People came from far and wide to see and voice their opinions on why in that beautifrich country a weakling like him should have been born.

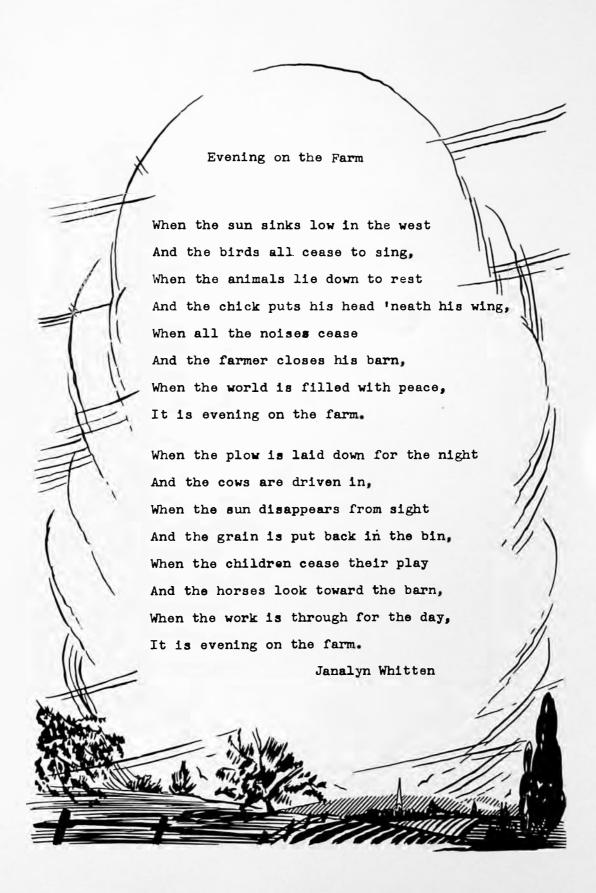

Well, it was a sin for a pig the size to be born in a pen in Vermont; however, the farmer was not a rich person so he decided to see what he coulfind to feed the pig. After many days of feeding it many of the best grains all mixed with the soil from those lovely hills of Vermont the farmer forthe food did no good. Finally, as a less resort, the owner tried the grain mixed with soil from all different states starting with the West Coast; But be the time he reached New Hampshire, the farmer said he was through. However, friend in Maine sent some soil. Eventhen the man said the pig wouldn't improve, but he agreed to feed the weaklithe Pine Tree earth.

Well, today the farmer is rolling in money because that good old Maine a made that pig grow until cit made those Vermont pigs look like a Pekine; beside a Great Dane.

By the way, we went to visit i: Wermont from our little farm in Maine.

"The Case of the Twanging Fence"

It was pitch dark and the moon was but a tiny slit in the sky. A summer breeze blew over the lake causing it to murmur.

Six girlfriends and I were taking a short cut to the cottage where we were staying. We were following a well-worn path that ran on the outer edge of a boy's camp. We crept stealthily along fearful of being caught.

A short distance away, twentyfive little campers sat Indian-fashion around a blazing campfire.

"And the man looked over and what did he see but a great big wolf," the counselor's voice rang clear in the night.

The breathless silence that had settled around the campfire was broken by a sharp 'twang' from the barbed wire fence that we were spanning hurriedly.

As twenty-five little faces and one big face turned toward the direction of the sound, one of the girls caught the seat of her slacks on the fence. We all became totem poles.

The voice went on, "The big wolf crept slowly towards the men. Its eyes were blazing and its jaws were open and dripping."

'Twang', rang out the fence as we finally unloosed the slacks. The totem-poles took form again.

As the story-teller went on, the six forms came to life and tip-toed slowly down the path.

I don't believe either party involved slept very soundly that night. The little campers were wondering if that was a wolf they heard over by the fence. And we were wondering if the man escaped from the jaws of the stalking beast.

A Tube of Shaving Cream

I am a tube of shaving cream. When I am new I lie on a store counter waiting to be bought. I am bright and shiny with my new coat of paint. People pick me up and read me and squeeze me to see if I am fresh. Then my weeks of misery begin; someone has bought me.

They take me on long trips and I get tossed around and dropped until I am sick to my insides. People are very thoughtless with me. I guess they don't think I have feelings

They take me out of my tube and put me all over their faces. A lot of times I am left on too long and am all dried up. Being slowly dried up is an awful way to die. They cut me to pieces with their razors. After they are through with me they wash me down the drain. So you can see that I have a very miserable and horrible life. I am sure that none of you would ever want to be treated as I am.

Next time you use me please use me carefully. I have but a short life to live; make it a more pleasant one, please.

Paul Morrison

"The Wind"

As I lie in my quilted bed, I could hear the wind as Around the corner it sped.

As the fallen leaves whirled in a dizzy spin,
I stopped to listen again,
And cautiously pulled the quilts up under my chin.

I listen as the old house groans and mutters,
As the chilly October wind
Rips and bangs its age old shutters.

As it tears along it seems to whistle Whirling, from the house to the fields To tear the down from the unsuspecting thistle.

The summer we loved so, is long past And even we know -- A thing so beautiful could never last.

We haven't had too many projects this year. The most important were delivering the new telephone directories and cleaning up after the hurricanes. It hasn't been too prosperous a year but we are all looking forward to a more successful year next year.

DRAMATIC CLUB

We held our first Dramatic Club meeting in November, 1954. The following officers are:

President......Lorraine Hunt Vice President...Lorraine Liberty Secretary.....Mary Finocchietti Treasurer.....Alice Caswell Advisor.....Mrs. June Long

So far our club has had a panel and a Christmas play in assembly. In the spring for assembly we are going to put on "Mr. Housewife," a one act play. Some of the things we have done in Dramatic Clut are: one act plays, stunts, skits, charades, choral reading, and pantomimes. At our next meeting we are having some Minstrel skits. Everyone always has a good time.

Mary Finocchietti, Secretary

The first meeting of the Commercial Club was held on Tuesday, September 28, 1954. The following officers were elected:

The Executive Committee includes Patsy Carr, Nancy Hamilton, Barbara Lynch, Yvonne Skilling, Janalyn Whitten, and Mona Mongeau. It was agreed to publish the school paper, the "Pennell Pen." Patty Maxwell was elected Editor in Chief with Mary Finocchietti as Assistant Editor. Under the supervision of our advisor, Mrs. Winton, we hope to hold a combined dance and party sometime during March. By combining the F.H.A. and Commercial Club funds we hope to make it a great success.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA

We held our first meeting Oct. 6. We made corsages to sell. There were two public suppers put on. One was Nov. 13, where we raised money to make up a Thanksgiving basket for a worthy family. Nov. 17, a few girls went to Saco to a district meeting. We also gave some games to the Sweetser Home for a Christmas gift. The F.H.A. and the Commercial Club are planning to have a dance together. This is our second year that we are selling jewelry. We have all kinds. There is a big supply in the Home Ec. room. You can get your jewelry from any F.H.A. member.

The officers are as follows:

President.......Elaine Quint Vice President.....Ilona Fernstrom later......Shirley Segars Secretary......Elizabeth Verrill Treasurer.....Patricia Brown

Other girls holding offices are: Ramona Ordway, Dawn Libby, Judy Gurrie, Isabel Dykeman, and chapter mothers, Mrs. Sara Pollard and Mrs. Minerva Quint.

Oculist: Weak eyes have you? How many lines can you read

on that chart?

Jane: What chart?

Lorraine: That's a queer pair of socks you have on, one red and one green.

Nancy: Yes, and I have another pair like them at home.

Elaine: I'm going to open a pet store. The next time you see me I'll be among our dumb little friends.

Wear a hat so we'll know Mary:

Father: Why were you kept after school?

Morris: I didn't know where the Azores were.

Father: In the future remember where you put things.

I dreamed I was married to the most beautiful girl in the world.

Lorraine: Were we happy?

Judge: have you ever appeared as a witness before?

Barry: Yes, your honor.

Judge: In what suit?

Barry: My blue serge.

Lloyd: (Sitting in the movies with Jean) Is your seat comfortable? Can you see all right?

Jean: Yes.

Lloyd: Wanna change places?

The decrepit old car drove up to the toll bridge.

Gateman: Fifty cents.

Sold! Donny:

Mobert: Say, Pal. will you lend me a nickel. I want to call a friend.

Vaughn: Here's fifteen cents,

call all your friends.

Why are you crying, Sis? Lyle:

Louise: Your dog ate my cake.

Lyle: Don't cry - I can get another dog.

Walter: I suppose you think I am a perfect idiot? Ruth: Oh, none of us are perfect.

Marvin: (To waitress at Coles) 48 hamburgers, please.

Waitress: How many?

Marvin: 48, please, but dontt worry; I'm not going to eat them all my self. I have three friends outside.

George: I was born in New York. Bobby: Funny things happen in Chicago too.

Mr. Small: Robert, can you name

a deadly poison?

Robert: Aviation. Mr. S: Aviation!!

Robert: Well, one drop almost always kills.

Barry: You look positively beautiful tonight.

Yvonne: Oh, you flatter!
Barry: No, it's true. I had to look twice before I recognized you.

Patty: I'm sorry--I quite forgot

your party the other evening!

Carol: Oh weren't you there?

Mr. Blanchard: Can you give me a good example of how > heat expands things and cold contracts things?

Patty: Well, the days are longer in summer than they are in winter.

Donald: How much are your number I2 shoes? Clerk: Six dollars a foot.

Father: Isn't it wonderful how little chicks get out of their shells?

What get's me is how Jimmy:

they get in.
